It is too bad for the New York poultry trust to have to lay in jail.

Feb. 13, 1899, was the coldest day in Hopkinsville in 35 years. Feb. 2, 1886 was when the deepest snow fell.

The fall of ten inches of snow in New York City entailed an expense estimated at $500,000. An army of 10,000 men were put to work cleaning off the snow from 300 miles of streets.

Secretary Bryan's paper, the Commoner, has made a vigorous attack on Roger C. Sullivan, of Illinois, who aspires to the Senate, saying he is utterly unfit for the position he seeks. Mr. Bryan has assumed responsibility for the editorial.

The Supreme Court of Tennessee has nullified the amendment to the election law, a Democratic measure, upon the ground that no quorum was present when it was passed. This leaves the fusionists still in charge of the election machinery.

Lieut. J. McC. Murray, of the United States naval aviation corps, stationed at Pensacola, Fla., was killed Monday when his machine fell into the gulf. He was from Nebraska, and 32 years of age. This makes 15 deaths from aviation, 13 in the army and 2 in the navy.

The Rev. Robert K. Massie, of Lexington, dean of Christ Church Cathedral, one of the largest Episcopal congregations in Kentucky, and one of the most important in the South, announces that after Easter he will not solemnize marriage unless would-be grooms present health certificates, signed by the family physician of the would-be bride.

The Welsh cigarette bill has been favorably reported in the House. It prohibits the sale of cigarettes or cigarette material to any one under 21 years old and makes it unlawful for any one under 21 years of age to smoke a cigarette. The disclosures about the State University had much to do in creating a sentiment for the bill.

EXPLAINS THE SORENESS

One of The plaintiffs In The Tobacco Road Suit Tells Why.

PIKE SEVERELY CRITICISED.

Compares Christian Systems of Road Building With Tennessee Method.

Editor Hopkinsville Kentuckian:

A news item in your issue of February 14th, is headed "Sore on the New Pike," and goes on to state that a suit has been filed to recover money paid out by certain citizens to macadamize a four mile stretch of the Pembroke Tobacco Road, or, get the road built according to contract.

Sore on it? Certainly. And why should they not be sore, when they have been bumping over it ever since the boulders, of which it is largely constructed, were thinly scattered over it. Yes they are sore, because they have lost heart from watching the boulders and cobblestones slowly but surely sink into the ooze that constitutes the road bed. Truly it is a veritable "Slough of Despond." It is high time for the citizens of Christian county to be sore of the condition of the roads. It would be a serious reflection on their intelligence were it otherwise.

The manner of using the road fund of this county is antiquated, inefficient, intolerable and unpopular. The people are tired of it. Smearing a thin layer of rock varying in size from a blackeyed pea to a peck measure on the ground and telling the voters of the county that this is "macadamizing" the public highways is beginning to fail to make a hit with the more thoughtful of the voters and taxpayers. Hiring a negro contractor with little or no capital to make him responsible for a good job of road work does not appear to the average mind as good business. Working inefficiently on mere sections of road is no way to have permanent, excellent highways. Wherever this scheme is followed you find no roads worth the mentioning and the county's money wasted.

Thirty thousand dollars a year for roads! What can a paltry sum like that do towards building turnpikes in a county like Christian? You hear this question asked. It will build ten miles of 15 foot macadam, like the pike from the State line near Edgerton to Clarksville, Tennessee, if you will use it on one continuous stretch of road, completing so much of it each day. Let the county furnish the convict labor to crush the rock, and the county machinery to roll it down on the highway. Let the farmers along the route haul the broken stone, they will gladly do it for nothing, and then you will see what the thirty thousand dollars will do.

"What do you know about it?" Some one asks. I helped to build a road this very way myself. Not in my own state and county, I am sorry to admit, but in Montgomery county, Tennessee, which at least in road building is more progressive and up-to-date than we are. Ye gods! Let's separate the road business from the political game. The average citizen scarcely cares a fig who holds an office, but he does want a decent road to travel over. This is not aimed at persons or political parties, but at a system and practice that is a disgrace to the county; that is so lacking in business methods, that put in to practice in a private enterprise would bring ruin and bankruptcy more speedily than a crooked bank President or cashier.

Christian county has a full quota of good business men both in town and county. They can tell when a thing is a business go or a mess. They know our road system is bad

MOVEMENT FOR STREETS

H. B. M. A. Favors Bond Issue To Give City Permanent Streets.

SEVERAL REPORTS RECEIVED

Progress Reported On Work Now In The Hands of Special Committees.

The Hopkinsville Business Men's Association met Monday night in postponed session, with Vice-President W. R. Wheeler, in the chair.

Reports from several outstanding committees were received.

The creamery committee reported progress and that another meeting would be held soon to discuss sewer connections. The Water Company had agreed to give a very low rate.

The tuberculosis Sanatorium Committee reported that the Fiscal Court had promised favorable consideration. The Good Roads committee reported that from 75 to 85 farmers were now using the King Drags on sections of county roads and doing good work. Secretary Bleich reported the organization of a permanent Good Roads Association.

Chairman Gary reported that the Commission form bill had passed the Senate and the reclassification bill would pass the House Tuesday. Both were unopposed and would become laws.

Following the discussion of good roads, the subject of good streets came up for attention and after several speeches a motion was adopted authorizing the appointment of a committee to wait upon the council and ask for a bond issue of $100,000 to construct permanent streets, in the event an election was called for a school bond issue, both to be voted on at the same time. Jas. O. Cook, H. A. Keach and A. D. Noe were named as the committee.

IN A JOINT BAPTISM

Members Are Taken Into The Methodist Church By Union Service.

Bowling Green, Ky., Feb. 18.—A rather anomalous religious situation developed last Thursday night when several persons were received into the membership of the State-street Methodist church at the First Christian church. This was due to the fact that they insisted upon baptism by immersion, a rite that could not be administered at the State-street church because it is without a baptistry. The actual immersion was performed by the pastor of the Christian church, the pastor of the State-street church saying the words that made the applicants members of the Methodist church.

So far as known this is the first incident of the kind in this section of Kentucky.

Stanley Is Improved.

Washington, Feb. 16.—Representative A. O. Stanley's hand, which was infected by a cigar burn, is much better today. "The trouble has been localized and danger of blood poison has passed. I think," said Mr. Stanley today. "At one time my whole right arm was affected." Mr. Stanley believes he will be able to speak in Versailles Monday.

MATINEE CLUB STARTS

With Walter Trice President And Ben Winfree Secretary.

ENTHUSIASTIC MEMBERSHIP.

Constitution Adopted and The Club Starts With Good Enrollment.

The Christian County Matinee Club was organized Tuesday night at the H. B. M. A. rooms with 20 members and genuine enthusiasm was shown in the movement.

Walter Trice was elected President Boyd Harris, Vice President and Ben S. Winfree Secretary. The Club lost no time in getting down to business and a constitution and by-laws were adopted and the club at once became an active and working body. Most of the members are young men who have horses to be trained and developed and an active campaign will be pushed to increase the membership. As heretofore, all members have free privileges at the track of the Pennyroyal Fair Company during the year, for training their horses.

Races will be held regularly throughout the summer to develop the horses and special prizes will be offered.

MEMBERS.

AUSPICIOUS OPENING

Of The Y. M. C. A. Rooms Monday Night With Many Callers.

REFRESHMENTS FOR ALL.

Work of Financing The Association To Be Taken In Hand At Once.

The Y. M. C. A. Building was auspiciously opened Monday night and a committee of ladies served sandwiches and coffee to all callers. An informal reception was held, the rooms being partially furnished for the occasion and well heated and lighted. With his customary liberality, Mr. T. L. Metcalfe presented flowers to decorate the tables.

Mr. Branch is temporarily in charge and the rooms will be kept open until 10 o'clock at night.

In the meantime the work of raising funds will be taken in hand at once. The following subscription list for $700 taken by Chas. M. Meacham, Jr., and other young men acting with him three years ago, will be turned over to the committee to be renewed and used as a nucleus:

Hopkinsville, Ky., Jan. 17, 1911. To the Board of Directors of the Y. M. C. A., of Hopkinsville, Ky. Gentlemen:

We the undersigned young men of Hopkinsville and Christian county, in this formal and united manner, wish to show you the universal desire and need of the benefits of a Y. M. C. A. building in Hopkinsville, and hereby call upon you to take such steps, at once, as will result in the completion of the unfinished building.

We each pledge ourselves to pay the sum of $10 for one year's membership in advance, for the privileges of the building, said sum to be paid at any time after the contract has been let for the completion of the building:

Guy Long Shows Up.

Guy Long, the local boy, who is a member of the Hopkinsville team of the Kitty League, and who has been wintering in Dayton, O., arrived in town a few days ago and will remain until Manager Kalkoff, another local man, asks him to report. Long is a versatile player and can handle himself well at any position outside of the catcher's. He started as a pitcher, but has been converted into an infielder, and will fill one of these gaps for Kalkoff during the coming season.—Louisville Post.

WANT BONDS REFUNDED

And Changed to Obligations To Be Assumed By City.

IMPORTANT MATTERS UP.

For Consideration By The City Council at Its Meeting Friday Night.

At a conference between the City Council and the Board of Trustees of the Public Schools the School Board reported its inability to conduct the school on its present revenues and retire the $66,000 of bonds issued in 1910 and 1912 to build the high school, and will ask that the school bonds be refunded and assumed by the city itself.

The Council provided $10,000 in cash to purchase the lot and $70,000 from the sale of bonds and in addition paid the first installment of interest $1,100 and donated $1,200 for the colored schools and $500 to the West Side school pavement in 1913, a total of $82,800. The county paid $7,000 on compromise of joint interests and entered into a contract to pay $15,000 in tuitions in five years, which was expected to be enough to finish the building. The city borrowed $3,600 last year pending the collection of the county contract money, but the Board now finds that the county's funds will be needed to operate the school and they see no way to pay the building balance of $3,700 including interest, drawn from their tuition funds, without shortening the current term.

At the Council meeting tomorrow night the Council will be asked to give the schools $66,000 outright, by voting the indebtedness on all city property instead of upon that subject to taxation for white schools only. It will be also asked that a bond issue of $14,000 for the erection of another colored school building be submitted to a vote. This will be a complete change from the present plan of maintaining the schools separately, one race not voting in any matters pertaining to the schools of the other. The white schools are operating under a special act passed in 1879 and are provided with building funds and operating funds by a tax limited to 50 cents on the property of white people only and a share of the taxes on franchises, together with the State per capita. The Council has power to pass an ordinance accepting the provisions for fourth class cities, under the present constitution, consolidating all schools white and colored, under one Board of Education, in which event all votes, white and colored, male and female, would be entitled to vote for the same bond issue.

CLASSIFICATION BILL PASSED.

House Puts Through Eleven Bills In One Day.

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 18.—The House got down to work Tuesday and passed eleven bills, including two of Mr. Duffy's bills, one abolishing the fellow servant system, and the other transferring Hopkinsville to the third class. The bill providing for a uniform accounting system was also passed. But little was done in the Senate.

KILL CHINCH BUGS

They Are Best Destroyed During Winter Months.

According to Department of Agriculture Pest Has Caused Loss Considerably in Excess of $350,000, 000 to American Farmers.

Washington.—The chinch bug, which in 60 years has probably caused loss considerably in excess of $350,000,000 to American farmers, is more effectively destroyed during the winter months than later when it has left its winter quarters, according to the department of agriculture. The burning of dry grass, leaves and rubbish along the margin of woods and fields is the best method of destroying the pest at this season of the year.

The pest, which is distributed generally throughout the United States except in the extreme west, has caused particular damage to the staple grains throughout the middle west. The greatest losses from the insect are suffered in Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Kentucky, North Carolina, Missouri, Iowa, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Kansas, Nebraska, Oklahoma and Texas. The fact that this bug causes such widespread depressions makes this warning for its destruction during the winter of very general importance.

The chinch bug when full grown is only about one-fifth of an inch in length and may be less. It may be described as black with numerous hairs, also black. The underwings are white.
There are two forms of the fully developed insect, one with long wings and the other with shorter wings. The short wing form differs very much in its habits from the long wing form, the first passing the winter in the meadows, which it usually attacks in preference to grain crops. The other kind may be observed flying about during Indian summer in search of winter quarters. The short wing insects are not able to fly and therefore cannot make such extensive migrations to and from winter quarters. The chinch bug with the short wings is found in abundance only in the east. The more dangerous long wing variety ranges over most of the country between the Rockies and the Appalachians.

Pasturing sometimes aids in the destruction of the chinch bug. This is particularly effective to the northward in the middle west when the grass is green and matted or occurs along hedge rows and rail fences so that it cannot be burned. Leaving the ground bare of vegetation permits the bugs to be exposed to the winter weather, and this kills them. It is sometimes possible to clear out hedge rows and along rail fences, piling the refuse to one side where it can be burned later.

These measures should be carried out some time between now and spring (the earlier the better) before the chinch bugs leave their winter quarters and take themselves to the fields. In the southern part of the middle west the burning is not very effective if done after February 1 and is very effective if done in November or December. Along with these preventive measures, all grass growing on waste lands should be burned and especially clumps of broom sedge in pastures and similar localities.

It is most advisable to get rid of the chinch bugs before they enter the young wheat in the early spring. Once they have reached the wheat they are not readily accessible. Most of the bugs spend the winter in the thick bunches of clump-forming grass in waste places, pastures and meadows, along roadsides and railroad rights of way. During late fall and early winter great numbers of living bugs can be found in corn husks, piles of kafir, corn, etc. In the spring, however, very few living bugs but many dead ones may be found in such situations. This seems to show that the current belief that most of the bugs pass the winter beneath such refuse has no foundation in fact.

It is very important when grass is burned that it be dry and yet burn slowly so that the heat will penetrate the densest portions and reach the bugs. The bugs need not come in direct contact with the fire. This burning in early fall and late spring is not as effective as when done during the winter, for green and wet stems in the former seasons furnish protection to certain of the bugs. Even the most careful burning will not reach the bugs under this condition.

An important item in the destruction of these pests is the co-operation of all the farmers in a neighborhood.
It is really an easy matter to fight this pest if a whole neighborhood undertakes it.

The secretary of agriculture recently issued two orders relating to the admission of foreign potatoes into the United States.

One of these orders provides for the admission of disease-free potatoes from uninfected foreign districts under proper regulation and inspection.

The other order, to protect American potatoes from the powdery scab and other diseases, temporarily extends the quarantine effective since September 20, 1912, against the importation of potatoes from Newfoundland, the islands of St. Pierre and Miquelon, Great Britain, including England, Scotland, Wales and Ireland; Germany, and Austria-Hungary, to include also the rest of continental Europe and the dominion of Canada. This quarantine became effective on December 24, 1913, except that shipments covered by consular invoices issued on or prior to December 24, 1913, will be admitted up to January 15, 1914.

As soon as any country or district can be shown free from potato disease the quarantine will be lifted, and potatoes will be admitted under proper regulation and inspection, as provided in the other order. It is possible that, in the case of certain provinces in Canada, and certain countries and districts in Europe, the absolute quarantine can be lifted in time to allow the later movement of the present year's crop under regulation and inspection.

eral use, since in large cities the flags are quickly discolored, and on account of the prevailing smoke and haze it soon becomes difficult to distinguish them.

The interpretation of these displays may be more easily mastered if it is kept in mind that the meaning is conditioned on the color and form of the flag; thus a white flag, if displayed alone, means clear or fair weather, with practically no change in temperature; a blue flag alone indicates general rain or snow, with stationary temperature; a flag composed of equal portions of white and blue indicates local rain or snow, as contrasted with general rain or snow. A triangular flag is used to indicate temperature changes. When displayed above any one of the flags already mentioned it indicates rising temperature; when below, falling temperature.

Forecasts of decidedly lower temperature, or much colder, are indicated by the display of the cold wave flag—a white rectangular flag with a black square as a center. The cold wave flag is always displayed alone.

It is planned by the department of agriculture to put men in the wintering grounds of the migratory water fowl in order to take a rough census of the kinds that occupy each main wintering area along the southern California coasts in the east and along the Pacific coast in the west.
This scheme is in connection with the migratory bird law and to keep track of the water fowl, so that it can be found out exactly what benefit is being obtained through the law.

Without the annual census the extent of the benefit derived from the law will not be known. If it is found that from year to year the ducks are increasing, it will, of course, show the law is beneficial. It will also furnish data for necessary changes in the law and regulation. If it is discovered that some species are being wiped out in spite of the law, then more strict regulation will be needed; but if it is found that the several species are increasing largely, the shooting season can be lengthened.

Over 4,000,000 ducks died during the last three years as the result of mysterious causes
in the Salt Lake valley. At first it was thought that the deaths were caused by some bacterial disease, and the biological survey co-operated with the bureau of animal industry, department of agriculture, in investigating the matter.
In some of the birds, traces of cocci-diosis were found, but as a rule, the internal organs were in healthy condition. As a result the department authorities arrived at the conclusion that the cause of the great destruction was poison.

The mortality among the ducks is always greater after a rain, showing that possibly some poison was washed in the feeding grounds. Quite a number of the streams of the locality are connected in some way with the smelters, and recently the Salt Lake city papers have been calling attention to the poisoning of stock and the destruction of certain plants along these streams.

One thing is known, that is, the cause of the tremendous loss is not a bacterial disease, because it was found in, not only ducks and geese, but other birds and even muskrats have been killed.

When it is considered that ducks are becoming so expensive it is a matter of the greatest interest, because of the fact that the millions of ducks that are killed annually from this unknown cause would be worth from $2,000,000 to $3,000,000.

Under existing law, 25 per cent. of the gross receipts from the forests is paid over to the states by the federal government for the benefit of county schools and roads, says the annual report of the chief forester, department of agriculture. An additional 10 per cent. is expended in building roads and trails for the benefit of the public. About $587,000 will be available for the states during the current year from last year's receipts, besides $235,000 provided for in the road fund. Altogether, including special funds to Arizona and New Mexico, the national forests provided nearly $867,000 to be expended for the benefit of the states in which they are situated.

More than 700,000 acres have been acquired for national forest purposes in the southern Appalachians and White mountains, of which considerably more than half was secured during 1913.

DYAKS ARE STRANGE

Tell the Truth and Build Monuments to Liars.

But Have No Idea of Clear Thinking; Logic Finds No Place in Their Brains; Bravery is Considered Highest of Virtues.

The Sea Dyak, that strange race found in the island of Borneo, has no idea of clear thinking; logic finds no place in his brain, and the most contradictory opinions seem to dwell together in perfect harmony in the turbid stream of his mind. The liver, strange to relate, is regarded by the Dyak as the seat of various praiseworthy qualities and emotions. Bravery is considered the highest of virtues, and when they wish to describe the greatest courage of a man they say he has a "brave liver." Intelligence also resides in the liver, and a man of knowledge is one possessing an "enlightened liver." Kindness is the quality of the man who has a "large liver," and perseverance that of one who has a "hard liver." A weak, undecided man is spoken of as one who had a "soft liver."

The Dyak is truthful and honest, and these qualities are rather unusual in eastern races. Families are often away from their homes for weeks at a time, living in little huts on their farm, and though no one is left in charge of their rooms in the long village house in the jungle, things are seldom lost.

After an experience of nearly twenty years in Borneo, a writer states that he knew of only two instances of theft. One was the theft of rice. The woman who lost the rice most solemnly and publicly cursed the thief, whoever it might be. The next night the rice was left at her door. The other was a theft of money. In this case, too, the thief was cursed. The greater part of the money was afterward returned to the box from which it had been abstracted. Both these incidents show the great dread which the Dyaks have of a curse. Even an undeserved curse is considered a terrible thing, and, according to Dyak law, to curse a person for no reason at all is a sinable offense.

As regards their truthfulness, it is said of the Dyaks that so disgraceful do they consider the deceiving of others by an untruth, that such conduct is handed down to posterity by a curious custom. They heap up a pile of branches of trees in memory of the man who has uttered a great lie, so that future generations may know of his wickedness and take warning from it. The persons deceived start the tugong bula—"the liar's monument"—by heaping up a large number of branches in some conspicuous spot by the side of the path leading from one village to another. Every passerby contributes to it, and at the same time curses the man in memory of whom it is.

The Dyaks consider the adding to any tugong bula they may pass a sacred duty, the omission of which will meet with supernatural punishment, and so, however pressed for time a Dyak may be, he stops to throw on the pile, some branch or twig. Believing, as the Dyaks do, in the efficacy of curses, it is easy to understand how a Dyak would dread the accumulation of curses that would necessarily accompany the formation of a tugong bula.

From an eastern point of view, the morals of the Dyaks are good. Divorce is very uncommon after the birth of a child, but where there are no children, for such reasons as incompatibility of temper or idleness, divorce is obtainable by either husband or wife on payment of a small fine.

AGAINST LAVISH USE OF SOAP

Medical Authority Points Out Danger to the Skin When Cleansing Agent Is Too Freely Employed.

That many dangers cling to alkaline soaps is emphasized editorially by the London Lancet, in which attention is called to the large proportion of mineral ash and alkali in dearest toilet soaps. When these soaps, after being dissolved in water, touch the skin, an excessive secretion of the acid sebum and sweat follows, and the protective outer layer of the skin, the epithelium, is partially dissolved. This means intense irritation, which is apt to lead to skin complications.

In the cheaper soaps the cottonseed oil and rancid fats used are responsible for considerable irritation. Castor oil soap is found least irritating, but it dissolves rather too freely and is apt to become rancid. Coconut oil soap is decidedly irritating and palm oil soap is less so, while tallow soap is least irritating of all.

Dr. Frederick Gardiner, accepted as an authority on this subject, holds that many bad effects come from those soaps made chiefly of cheaper fats and cottonseed and coconut oils. Formerly tallow and olive oil were most used and the skin did not suffer.

The natural conclusion is that as little soap as possible should be used on the skin and that this should be least alkaline in quality. It should always be well rinsed off, so as to permit the least possible irritation.

One Reason.
"I don't remember," said the old critic, "of ever seeing so many bad actors as I do now."
"But then," remarked his friend, "you must remember, too, that eggs were never so high."

and they can make it efficient, just as much so as has been done in Montgomery county, Tenn. There are laws on our statute book that will enable this to be done. All that is needed is for a few public spirited men to take the lead, and in five years, by working on the co-operative plan, Christian county will have no cause to blush for her roads, nor hang her head in shame when she looks over the line into Tennessee.

Citizens in Montgomery county, Tennessee, have recently voluntarily subscribed four thousand dollars to assist the county in building four and one-half miles of pike to extend from Ringgold on the Clarksville and Hopkinsville pike to the Kentucky juncture of this SAME PEMBROKE TOBACCO ROAD, about which our citizens are suing. Note the difference in spirit here. Cannot the citizens of Christian county and Christian county itself get together in this same patriotic spirit and build as good a road as the one across the line? I think they can. Don't you?

We thrill with national pride when we read in the papers how Col. Geothals has united the Atlantic and Pacific oceans, cutting through the back bones of a mountain system to accomplish it, when perhaps our paper, containing the eloquent and inspiring recital of his wonderful engineering feat, has reached us three hours late, because the mail carrier got stuck in the mud about a mile above our house. I am proud enough of the colonel and the canal, mind you; but—take it from your rustic friend—a good road from the Tennessee line to Hopkinsville, or any point to Hopkinsville, would be more to the purpose so far as you or I are concerned, than two canals at Darien.

We buy high priced mules from Missouri every year and make worthless plugs out of them on our miserable roads. This is only one of the countless causes of the much talked of high cost of living.

The time is passing, when the people of rural districts are contented to drag a weary way through bogs and mudholes to the county town, the school, the village, the railroad station and the church. They are going to have some roads for their yearly thirty thousand dollars, or they are going to know the reason why. We have a fine county, my masters, but believe me, our roads would not excite favorable comment, nor promote footracing among the Hottentots or Esquimaux.

Some people seem to think that the split-log drag settles the road question. It does not. I think well of the drag and use one, but it does not make a road that will serve as well as a pike. Christian county wants good turnpikes, and is going to have them. The split-log drag is designed to help out until the better roads can be made, and save the county the expense of grading these dirt roads, for remember the farmers are dragging the roads free of cost to the county, and the split-log drag is a road grader par excellence. Now the split-log drag is going to do Christian county an injury if it is going to have a tendency to check pike building. The drag can do yeoman service on the dirt roads and this will enable the road supervisor to use the entire $30,000 every year in co-operation with the farmers along the route to build ten or twelve miles of high grade roads which will be a credit and source of pride to our county.

JAMES A. MCKENZIE,
Feb. 16, 1914. Edgote, Ky.

Representative Shackelford, of Missouri, author of the bill pending before Congress providing Federal aid to States and subdivisions in the construction of highways, addressed the Kentucky Assembly on the question of good roads Monday.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a running ear or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and the tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circular free.

How to Detect the Alum Baking Powder

"Which are the alum baking powders; how can I avoid them unless they are named?" asks a housekeeper.

Here is one way: take the can of a low-priced powder in your hand and read the ingredient clause upon the back label. The law requires that if the powder contains alum that fact must be there stated. If you find one of the ingredients named alum, or sulphate of aluminum, you have found an alum baking powder.

There is another and a better way. You don't have to know the names of the alum powders. Use Royal Baking Powder only; that assures you a cream of tartar powder, and the purest and most healthful baking powder beyond question.

WOULD CUT DOWN

Litigation In Circuit Courts Should Bill Become a Law.

In some Judicial districts of the State, if not all, under the present jurisdiction of Quarterly Courts, the Circuit Judges are overworked, scarcely ever being able to handle their dockets as they should be. While Judge Hanbery, for instance, dispatches business with more than ordinary expedition, he is one of the hardest worked men on the bench in the State. We believe that he does not have the time he should have, often being forced to consider a perplexing case during hours that should be given to rest and not to consulting authorities on legal points. This is said in the face of the fact that his judgments have been upheld by the Court of Appeals, probably, in a larger proportion of cases than any present Judge in Kentucky.

Circuit Judges are paid a fixed salary. Judges of Quarterly Courts, receive salaries from the county, but the emoluments of their offices go very far toward increasing their bank accounts, but a rush of business piled on to the shoulders of the Circuit Judges gives them more work without corresponding remuneration.

A bill was introduced in the Lower House of the Kentucky Legislature last Monday, which, if it should become a law, would not only lighten the work of the Circuit Judges, but would also increase the emoluments of the Quarterly Court Judges. The bill provides for increasing the jurisdiction of Quarterly Courts to $500. Of course the judges of both classes will not be unfavorable to the enactment of the bill into a law, for both will be benefited by it. The assumption that litigants themselves, for many reasons, one of which is securing a more speedy trial, would generally be pleased to have the bill become a law.

If eventually it should be found that the Quarterly Judges should have more than they could do—which is most improbable—the jurisdiction of Justices of the Peace could be increased, and thus lighten the burden of the Judges of the Quarterly Courts. And no doubt the Magistrates would be glad to have their emoluments increased?

The bill mentioned, viewed from any standpoint, would no doubt be a good thing for everybody, Circuit and Quarterly Judges, Justices of the Peace and all that have to settle matters before a tribunal. The bill should become a law and we can see no reason for any of the law makers not voting for it when it comes up for action.

WILL OF 1902.

Of Miss Mary Ann Garrett To Stand.

The Court of Appeals Tuesday handed down an opinion in the case of Major and others against Garrett, by which the will of Miss Mary Ann Garrett, made in 1902, was declared as her last will, and settles the question as to her having been mentally able under the law to dispose of her property. Among many other items was her farm of 450 acres, near St. Elmo.

After her death two wills were found among her papers, the first one antedating the 1902 will several years. The jury found for the defendant, Garrett, at the March term, 1913, of the Christian Circuit Court.

Springfield's Standing.

Elsewhere in this paper will be found a full and complete statement of the financial condition of the city of Springfield. This statement reveals the fact that the three City Commissioners are giving the town an able administration. At the time these gentlemen took over the reigns of government, the town was badly involved and no relief was in sight. The new Commissioners at once adopted the most rigid economic policy possible without regarding the growth of the town or doing injury to any branch of the city government and so well have they guided the affairs of the city that the obligations of the city have been lowered and some improvements made during their short incumbency.

The city's financial condition is good. A town with assets amounting to $300,000.00 and with liabilities of only $54,180.00 is in tip-top shape.

There is not a better officered town in the United States than Springfield. The three Commissioners are all men of the highest integrity and stand as the equals of any like number of men, anywhere, in business ability. If they can be prevailed upon to continue at the head of affairs for a few more years this town will make forward strides that will place her in the front ranks of Tennessee municipalities.

Mr. Chas. E. Bell, who is Mayor, under the Commission Government, is also Treasurer of the city. He is a man who does everything by system—no slipshod policy enters into any duty that devolves upon him and in keeping the finances of the town he has evolved a system of book-keeping that is unsurpassed.

Every cent that is received or paid out is shown in a way that no mistake or graft could possibly go unnoticed. His books show each item of revenue received, from whom and when; each item paid out, to whom and when. His books are perfect and from them any citizen can receive any information he desires from the time the Commission Government was adopted to date, in the space of a few minutes. Each warrant paid by the city is numbered and for what it was issued stated in the great record book kept by Mr. Bell; then these warrants are filed in a manner that any particular warrant desired can be reached without trouble or delay. In fact the system employed by Mr. Bell is so complete that it cannot be appreciated without one seeing it for himself. We

Dora Richardson Dead.

Mrs. Cora Richardson Brock Clay Hunt, who fifteen years ago when she was sixteen years old, married General Cassius Marcellus Clay, at that time in his ninetieth year, died at her home near Lexington Feb. 13. At the time of her wedding, General Clay, who was at one time minister to Russia, mounted a cannon and barricaded his home in Madison county in order to prevent any successful attempt on the part of his relatives to stop the ceremonies.

The girl left Clay several months after the wedding and since that time has been married four times. Clay died in 1905. She left one son called Brock Clay.

SCENE FROM THE SHEPHERD OF THE HILLS AT HOLLAND'S OPERA HOUSE TUESDAY NIGHT, FEBRUARY 24.

"The woods and the hills are a part of God's handiwork." From this play you may, in some measure, feel their influence. My play is the story of a man who took the trail that leads to the lower grounds; and a woman, and how she found her way to the higher sunlit fields."

These are Harold Bell Wright's preliminary remarks regarding his dramatization of his celebrated novel, "The Shepherd of the Hills" which comes to Holland's Opera House on February 24.

He has written a story of rough times in the Ozarks, days before the coming of the railroad, the period of huskings, h useraisings, rough and ready settlement of disputes with the fists, laborious farming, highway robberies and so on. It is a "red-blood" virile play, yet one that has a deep message. It is filled with unique characters and incidents. The fact that the novel, from which the play was made, has held the record for five years as the leading "best seller," is ample proof that it is what the public wants.—Advertisement.

A stubborn, annoying, depressing cough hangs on, racks the body, weakens the lungs, and often leads to serious results. The first dose of Dr. King's New Discovery gives relief. Henry D. Success in Localizing Crop.

The little seedless grapes which furnish the so-called dried "currants" exported from Greece in large quantities and produced nowhere else in the world are a remarkable instance of localizing of an important crop in a small district. The annual yield of these "currants" is over 1,200,000,000 pounds of fresh fruit, or about 160,000 tons when dried.

"LOOK OUT FOR THE CARS"

DO YOU know of anyone who is old enough to read, who has not seen that sign at a railroad crossing?

If everyone has seen it at some time or other, then why doesn't the railroad let the sign rot away? Why does the railroad company continue to keep those signs at every crossing?

Maybe you think, Mr. Merchant, "Most everybody knows my store, I don't have to advertise."

Your store and your goods need more advertising than the railroads need to do to warn people to "Look Out for the Cars."

Nothing is ever completed in the advertising world.

The Department Stores are a very good example—they are continually advertising—and they are continually doing a good business.

If it pays to run a few ads 'round about Christmas time, it certainly will pay you to run advertisements about all the time.

MEN GREW UP WITH THE JOB

Neighbor Explains to Mrs. Timkins
How Contractor and Assistants Got into Little Wagon.

Mrs. Timkins was telling her neighbors how she had been betrayed.
"You know," she said, "we had that man up from Newark to look at the big dead tree that's going to fall some day and cut through our house, starting at the roof and not making any stops till it reaches the cellar."
"He estimated that it was about fifty feet to the first branch, and he talked as though he had ladders, derricks and hawsers enough to move the Washington monument."
"Then he went away and wrote us a letter making a bid on the job. We accepted the bid. Then a month went by."

"Yesterday he came in a little wagon about two by four, scarcely more than a baby carriage. He had some ropes and four men besides himself. But no ladders. When he found that none of his four men would climb up the first branch and fasten the rope, he said he couldn't take the tree down."

"His ridiculous little wagon! I don't see how those five men ever got into it, even themselves."
"Maybe they were boys when they started," said Neighbor Jones.—New York Evening Post.

His Growl.

"A man ought to know when to say no."
"You know when to say no, all right."

"Thank you. I think I do."
"Yes, you said no when you felt sure I would ask you again. And you said yes when you saw me beginning to weaken."

Just the Same.

"I met Dunkey today for the first time for years. He hasn't changed much."

"Oh, he hasn't changed at all, but he doesn't seem to realize it."

The cost of maintaining the farm a close study of the rations fed will often enable one to make substitution, or to rearrange feeds for a greater economy. The economy possible in feeding is comparatively small, at nomies through obtaining a maximum efficiency from the horse—a large amount of labor annually. The reorganization of the farm, for the crop rotations and the keeping of live stock, will enable one to secure a better distribution of labor throughout the year, and a greater number of hours of labor per horse. In such organization corn, potatoes or other cultivated crops are of the greatest assistance in distributing labor and increasing the capacity of the horse.

On the modern farm, where business organization and a high type of skill is required, the cry is for efficiency.
This is especially timely when the costs of production are high, and the farm manager must soon be prepared to investigate in detail the costs of production in order that economies may be instituted. On most farms, the possibilities of more economical forms of production are apparent. The point of maximum returns for labor or capital expenditures are still far beyond us. Upon many farms, the first step toward more economical production must be in cheapening the power used in operating the farm implements. A tremendous loss is possible in the one item of horse labor alone. The man handling his horses at a high cost per hour of labor is handicapped in every enterprise on his farm, in comparison with the man operating at a low cost. Superior productivity of the land, and superior methods of cropping, may overcome the handicap; but it is much easier remedied at its source in the cost of maintaining the horse.

The cost of horse labor is essentially a business problem for the man operating his farm by business methods. The importance of the farm horse, as an economical source of motive power, will repay much investigation as to how the power can be most cheaply obtained.

On all farms the number of horses required must be fitted to the nature of the business that has been developed or the form of management

This Mare Is Paying for Her Keep adopted. A smaller number than are required will mean a considerable loss in operating efficiency and likely an increased cost of production. At the same time, it is important to bear in mind that the farm management should very often be changed so as to admit, first a better form of cropping, by which labor may be distributed throughout the year, avoiding as far as possible forms of cropping which require a large amount of labor in a few days or weeks; second, a rotation of crops which may increase the actual labor required on the farm, but at the same time distribute it more evenly.

In numerous instances economies can be effected by decreasing the number of horses kept. This again depends upon farm conditions in the locality. If decreases in number are not feasible, and certain stock is necessarily kept in idleness through much of the year, brood mares should be used, thus carrying animals that are productive in two ways, from their labor and their foals.

Unprofitable Cows.

Is it any wonder that most farmers' cows fall off so heavily, both in flesh and milk production during the winter season? It is only a natural consequence, when the cows stand out in all kinds of chill, stormy weather through the day and sleep on the cold ground at night.

Fertile Eggs.

Hens that have rested the winter through and have been injured to cold, coming off hardy and well, will show the largest per cent. of fertile eggs when they do begin laying.

Mary had a bloom of youth;
That made her friends all wonder,
Until she went into the surf
And came out old as Methuselah.

Boyd-Hunter.

Mr. E. L. Boyd, until a few days ago a resident of this city, and Miss Una Hunter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melville Hunter, of near Guthrie, were married at the home of the bride yesterday. The groom was formerly of Cadiz, but had lived here for several years. Recently he had been in the employ of Mr. Paul Winn, in the coal business. The bride is well known in Hopkinsville, having frequently been the guest of Miss Vera Randle. Mr. and Mrs. Boyd will reside with the groom's parents, a few miles from Guthrie.

Tuberculosis Hospital.

Carlisle, Ky., Feb. 18.—Petitions are being circulated and signed in Nicholas county asking that Nicholas county be designated a tuberculosis hospital district and that a tuberculosis hospital be erected in this county. The petitions will be presented to the Fiscal Court of this county at its next meeting. Mr. Sapp, a representative of the State Tuberculosis Commission, is here assisting in the campaign for the hospital.

Water Company Liberal.

The Hopkinsville Water Company steps to the front with a liberal proposition to encourage manufacturing enterprises to be located here. They propose to furnish water after the plants are in operation at 8 cents per 1,000 gallons for five years. This is a reduction of 4½ cents per 1,000 gallons from the fixed rates of the company.

TENTATIVE AGREEMENT

Terms of Telephone Franchise Practically Settled In Conference.

COURT MEETS TOMORROW.

Expected That Franchise Will Be Submitted and Offered For Sale.

The Fiscal Court committee and the officials of the Christian-Todd Telephone Company met last Tuesday and tried to arrive at an agreement on a basis whereby the committee could frame a franchise to be submitted to the court for approval at its special meeting tomorrow.

The efforts amounted to a failure and another meeting was agreed upon for yesterday morning. When the committee and the officials adjourned yesterday for dinner they had nearly gotten together on the most important points and at two o'clock they thrashed out their differences and finally arrived at an agreement, which, briefly stated, is as follows:

The rates of service will be the same, or nearly so, that were charged when the present company succeeded the Cumberland. The franchise will cover a period of 20 years. At the end of three years the company can negotiate for an increase of rates if their financial statement shows they have not made a fair profit on their investment. The company is to furnish the court every three months with a financial statement of its business. The company will buy the franchise on the terms named above.

Painfully Bruised.

Tuesday while seeing to the installing of two box-ball alleys donated to the Y. M. C. A. Mr. T. L. Metcalfe stepped on a plank in a temporary floor that broke and let him fall between the joints, causing painful bruises in several places on his legs and arms. He had a narrow escape from falling to the floor beneath, about ten or twelve feet.

PREDICTED DEATH

Literary Woman of New York
A Native of Kentucky.

New York, Feb. 14.—Mrs. Zoe Anderson Norris, magazine contributor, newspaper woman, publisher of a magazine known as the East Side or Zoe Magazine, died last night in a hospital. She was a native of Harrodsburg, Ky., and was a widow with one daughter. She was well known in social and literary circles and for her work in the ghetto world. A marvelous thing about her death is that she predicted her early demise in her last magazine, though then apparently in usual good health. She said she had been admonished in a dream. The magazine contained the facts and details as to how she wished to be buried, etc. Her latest work of note was the establishment of the "Ragged Edge Club."

Mrs. Norris was a sister of the late Clarence Anderson of this city.

WAS HERE

To Consult With Agricultural-ist Morgan.

T. W. Gist, of the Department of Agriculture, Washington, was in the city Tuesday morning. The object of his visit was to consult with county agriculturalist Morgan as to what per cent. of the county's wheat crop is sold at the opening of the market.

He had heard several times of the good work Mr. Morgan has done during the past fifteen months, and as Mr. Gist is connected with the bureau of statistics, he certainly struck the right man to furnish him with the desired information.

Mr. Gist has been with the agricultural department for seven years and has spent much of his time in Northern Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas, gathering data for the government.
